An Exclusive Concert Series

One of the most unique cities in the United States, New Orleans is truly second to none in music, food, culture, and history.

Influences from Spain, France, and West Africa are embedded in the music, cuisine, and style of New Orleans. It's a city where you'll hear French and Vietnamese spoken with English, where you'll see spicy shrimp gumbo and jambalaya served with elegant French cakes and pastries, and where you'll see Creole cottages beside Spanish and French-colonial architecture.

Music is the true lifeblood of New Orleans, which makes it the ideal destination for a concert tour. The birthplace of jazz, New Orleans Gospel, and the spiritual home of Louis Armstrong, Sidney Bechet, and Buddy Bolden, the city's music credentials are awe-inspiring. Its French quarter is home to a United States National Park of Jazz Music, which offers a visitor center, concert venue, and a full calendar of musical events. It's hard to put the character of New Orleans into words until you've walked through it on a sultry summer evening and heard the gentle song of a blues trumpet.

But, there's more to the city's musical legacy than just jazz. The Louisiana Philharmonic Orchestra, for example, is the first musician-owned orchestra in the United States. The LPO typically puts on more than 30 concerts per year, playing in the acoustically perfect 19th and 20th century concert halls around the city. Opera also has a long history here, dating back to 1796. More than six different ensemble groups continue the tradition today, putting on frequent shows throughout the year.

The National Festival of the States is an annual concert series developed by Music Celebrations in various cities throughout the United States. These performance tours are supported by local government offices, community organizations, tourist boards, and the like. Such affiliations offer a more memorable musical, cultural and educational experience for recommended ensembles (both instrumental and vocal) to perform in different venues in the most historic cities and celebrate the founding, history, and institutions of the United States! Music Celebrations has been successfully organizing the National Festival of the States concert series for the past 15 years.

This is a very flexible itinerary. Except for confirmed appointments and performances, the places of interest and the sequence of sightseeing might be changed if necessary or desirable. In the event of an unavoidable conflict in the performance and the sightseeing schedule, the concert schedule will prevail, and it may be necessary to exclude some sightseeing activities.

The support and guidance of the MCI team was outstanding in every way. We traveled with 90 students and chaperones and everyone felt special and attended to. They made us feel like we were their only clients and that certainly makes me want to continue to use them for all of my International tours in the future!

MCI made the trip planning experience (a part about which I was nervous as a new orchestra director) so easy and stress-free. I think they really understand the needs of performance groups and I appreciated the emphasis on performances and musical opportunities. On my students' end-of-year reflections, the trip was consistently one of the highlights of the year!
